All responding organizations to an emergency are typically encouraged to participate in and resources of the JIC. If participation in the JIC is not feasible, the non-participating share the organization is encouraged to conduct their communication activities in cooperation with the JIC. JIC members during a radiological emergency typically include, but are not limited to, public affairs and public information officers from: the nuclear power plant licensee and contractors; government and quasi-governmental agencies at the local, county, state, and federal level; police departments and other law enforcement agencies; fire departments and Emergency Management Services; offices of elected officials; the Red Cross and other non-profit organizations. A critical function of the JIC in an emergency is to provide information to the public, the media, and key stakeholders in real time. Message maps are critical to this process. By working from a common set of message maps, organizations involved in managing and responding to the emergency can work together in a...
